Anne of Austria (16 August 1573 – 10 February 1598) was Queen of Poland and Sweden and a Grand Duchess of Lithuania as the first consort of King Sigismund III Vasa. Anne was a daughter of Charles II of Austria and Maria Anna of Bavaria. She was the grandchild of Ferdinand I, Holy Roman Emperor and Anne of Bohemia and Hungary (1503–1547).

Anna Maria (23 May 1593 – 9 February 1600)
Catherine (19 April 1594 – 16 May 1594)
Władysław (9 June 1595 – 20 May 1648), (reigned 1632-1648 as Władysław IV of Poland and Lithuania)
Catherine (27 September 1596 – 2 June 1597)
Christopher (10 February 1598 – 10 February 1598)

In April 1592, the betrothal was formally celebrated in the Imperial Court in Vienna; on 4 May, a proxy wedding was celebrated, after which Anna and her mother departed for the wedding in Krakow. Anne became the first wife of Sigismund III on 31 May 1592. This marriage was opposed by many szlachta (nobles) of the Polish–Lithuanian Commonwealth, who were opposed to the alliance with the Austrian Habsburgs that Sigismund pursued.

Anna Maria Vasa (23 May 1593 – 9 February 1600) was a Princess of Poland and Sweden as the eldest surviving daughter of King Sigismund III Vasa and his first wife, Queen Anne of Austria. She was heiress presumptive from 1593 until 1595. Anna Maria was born on 23 May 1593 in Kraków, Poland. Her parents' marriage was a political one, it was intended to tie the House of Vasa and the prestigious Habsburgs. In July 1593, Anna Maria was taken by her paternal aunt Anna Vasa of Sweden to her baptismal. Anna Maria's mother died on 10 February 1598 less than three years after giving birth to Władysław. On 9 February 1600, Anna Maria died of measles in Kraków. Her body was buried in the Wawel Cathedral.
